Ecolabel

* The EcoLabel Tiles are produced by a process using farsightedness and a respect for the environment. The factory producing these tiles was one of the first to obtain the EcoLabel certification.

These EcoLabel Tiles are produced to look at the future also when it concerns respect of the nature and care of the environmental impact. The EcoLabel is a quality mark issued by the European Union. The attribution system certifies environmentally friendly products. Environmental criteria for granting The EcoLabel mark are based on scientific studies and extensive consultations with various economic and social elements. Only products with a low environmental impact can get the label.

With The EcoLabel, ceramic tile becomes an environmentally friendly product.

*Only tiles with the Ecolabel logo comply.

Company Profile

Delivering inspiration for 50 years

OUR COMPANY HERITAGE AND EXPERIENCE

Specialising in ceramics for 50 years, Minoli has supplied beautiful floor, wall and mosaic tiles to a diverse range of clients, each with very specific needs.

When founded in London in the late 1940s, the company initially both produced and installed Terrazzo, before relocating to Oxford and branching out into supplying Italian ceramic tiles in the 1960's. Still run by the Minoli family today, we like to think our clients value our instinctive approach to sourcing the best products and reliably delivering them.

Perhaps our roots influence the way we operate? Or maybe it's just our untiring enthusiasm?

We think it's both, with a heritage and ability that we're proud of. In preparation for the next 50 years, we're evolving to even better meet your needs.
